2ND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME YEAR A | 18 JANUARY 2026

Storytelling at its best

The best stories often have subtle structural elements hidden from direct view. George Lucas, for example, built the six Star Wars films he produced according to an elaborate ring structure where both scenes and dialogue from the first three films are inverted and mirrored in the second half.

J K Rowling constructed the Harry Potter series according to the spiritual “logic” of alchemy and with overarching mirrored parallels, a bit like Lucas. This deep structuration is an incredibly ancient and widespread way of storytelling. Holy Scripture is brimming full of configurations of similar kinds, both small and large.

John’s Gospel is no exception. I’ll draw attention to one example. The second half of Chapter One is composed of four “scenes”: the Baptist’s testimony about Jesus to the priests, Levites, and Pharisees from Jerusalem; the Baptist’s testimony about Jesus’ baptism (this week’s gospel!); Andrew’s testimony to his brother Peter; and Philip’s testimony to Nathaniel.

The deep structural element I want to point out is the way the gospel relates these scenes to the next one, which is the wine miracle at the Wedding in Cana, the first “sign” that marks the beginning of Jesus’ ministry at the start of Chapter Two. (Six “signs” follow through the middle of the book, for a total of seven.)

Now, the second, third, and fourth of these testimonial scenes begin with the same phrase: “The next day...” The Cana story immediately following the fourth scene begins: “On the third day...” Four plus three is...seven.

The structural “key” to these “days” of Chapter One is the seven-day creation story. It is also the basis for the seven “signs,” which layer the Exodus onto that Creation theme. (Moses’ “signs” are the plagues that undo the creation, culminating in the death of Egypt’s firstborn sons, whereas Jesus’ signs—from the wedding wine to the resurrection of Lazarus—are acts of renewing the creation, bringing the world to its glorious purpose, achieved through the sacrifice of God’s own Son.)

This also sheds light on this week’s gospel, the second day of the initial seven, and John the Baptist’s testimony about Jesus’ baptism. Here John mentions a Lamb, a Dove, and a Son. Jesus is both the Lamb—like the Passover lamb during the Exodus that “redeemed” the firstborn sons of Israel—and he is the Son, already sung about in the gospel’s opening as the one who makes us children of God.

In the middle of John’s testimony, between these two images (Lamb and Son), is the Dove, who is the Spirit, descending on Jesus in the waters of baptism. John testifies that Jesus’ baptism is the restart of the creation’s beginning when the Spirit hovered over the waters in Genesis. Our baptism into Jesus immerses us into this entire new creation.

Pope's Intentions for 2026

"Pray with the Pope" aims to allow anyone, wherever they are in the world, to join in the Holy Father's prayer intention, which this year 2026 begins with the invitation to "learn to pray with the most definitive Word, which is not our own, so full of empty promises, but Jesus Christ".

January

For prayer with the Word of God

Let us pray that praying with the word of God be nourishment for our lives and a source of hope in our communities, helping us to build a more fraternal and missionary Church.

'Seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these other things will be given you as well.' | Matthew 6:33
